Celebrating a woman of fortitude

The PSA is known for advancing and fighting for the protection of women's rights, in a country where women are often the victims of gender based violence, and more impacted by high rates of unemployment, poverty, and inequality.

As the country commemorates Women's Month, the PSA takes this opportunity to celebrate a woman amongst women, 'maswara thipa ka bogaleng' who joined the PSA in March 2010, was elected Shop Steward in 2011, and who is still serving in that position to date. She committed herself to the PSA's cause in advancing the rights and interests of workers against all odds. The PSA salutes Dephney Maepa Kekana, who gallantly fought for workers, even to the detriment of her own career to ensure that workers rights are upheld in Lebowakgomo, in Limpopo. Although she was working for the Department of Education, she does not see herself only as a departmental shop steward, but regards herself as a PSA shop steward who can go to any Department in Lebowakgomo, to assist.

Dephney will be retiring at the end of August 2021 and her zeal, commitment and fighting spirit will be missed. She fervently served the PSA, recruited many members and represented the Union with great dedication.

The PSA wishes all women in a Limpopo a great Women's Month.
